Afternoon Tea with

Tobias Ellwood MP

Tobias Martin Ellwood MP is a British Conservative Party politician, soldier and author. He served in the Royal Green Jackets and reached the rank of captain. He currently serves as the Member of Parliament for Bournemouth East and served as a UK Government Minister at the Ministry of Defence from 2017 to 2019.

Tobias wrote an article in the Daily Telegraph on 11th January 2012 which he entitled “If Global Britain is to succeed, we must redefine our place in the world”.

He commented after the publication of this article “This G10 alliance (over half the world’s GDP) can begin to address & reverse the demise in global stability, democratic values & rule of law.”

His views are measured and informative which makes him a sought after speaker.
